GERMANY HAS PLAN TO GIVE GUARANTEE OF REPARATIONS

Dr. Wirth Says Minimum Program Must Insure Allies' Payments

TAX ALL ASSETS

Monarchists Must Go For Safety Of Republic Says State Head

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 2.—It is reported from Berlin that the Independent-Socialist party has reserved its decision on the offer of entry into the Cabinet.

Dr. Wirth formulates his minimum program as follows:

1.—The establishment of Budget equilibrium and the guaranteeing to the Allies of the financial obligations by the imposition of a sufficiently high tax on property, notably by the taking over of securities.

2.—Just measures for the protection of the Republic against reaction, particularly by judicial reforms, and the dismissal of public officials, professing the Monarchist faith. The continuation of the policy of socialisation and even of foreign policy towards the Entente and reconstruction and a sincere effort to fulfil the obligations proceeding from the ultimatum.

PLANS COALITION

Paris, Oct. 2.—The Berliner Tageblatt states that Dr. Wirth has called a meeting of the chiefs of all parties for Monday to discuss the possibility of forming a coalition government to include both left and right elements.

ACCIDENTS DUE TO SPEED; METAL WINGS MUST COME

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 3.—Aviation experts criticising the race for the Deutsch de la Meurthe Cup say that Sadi Lecointe's accident, Herbert James' forced landing and the recent death of Lieut. de Romanet are very remarkable because in all three cases the motors were faultless but the canvas wings of the machines were unable to stand the strain of the tremendous speed.

The experts are confident that next year will see aeroplanes having metallic wings permitting of a speed of 400 kilometers an hour.

They declare that the future of aviation lies in the highest speed which can only be obtained at high altitudes, and enable even distant capitals to be brought into cloce communication.

VIVE LA! AND LONG LIFE FOR TWO NATIONS IS HIS HOPE

Col. Noblemaire Urges Dying Soldiers' Aims Must Be Realised

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Oct. 2.—There was an impressive debate in the Assembly of the League of Nations yesterday, when Lord Robert Cecil presented his report on the reduction of armaments. He urged the members of the League to enlist the support of the whole world in their efforts to secure reduction of armaments.

Mr. Bruce (Australia) declared that the Assembly had great hopes in the Washington Conference and asked whether, if the Conference proved unsuccessful, the Assembly was prepared to pursue the matter.

M. Noblemaire (France) declared that no one desired peace more than France because she had suffered most. "We want to live peacefully with the Germans. Moral disarmament has already been accomplished in France, but France desires security for reparations."

Mr. Fisher (Britain) affirmed Britain's wholehearted support of the League and declared that France and Britain, in spite of divergencies, aimed at securing lasting peace in Europe and the world.

Lord Robert Cecil wound up the debate with another eloquent appeal and the Assembly unanimously passed the report.

MUST TRY TO DISARM

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Oct. 2.—The most striking speech in yesterday's disarmament debate in the Assembly of the League of Nations was that of M. Noblemaire (France) who was a colonel during the war. He told the story of a young soldier in his regiment whose dying words were "Vive la France" and said that many German heroes had similarly cried "Long Live Germany." He asked why should not the hopes of all these heroes be realised and why could not Germany and France live side by side, great, prosperous and pacific.

Lord Robert Cecil, in a very interesting speech, declared that, unless armaments were reduced, a lasting peace was impossible. He expressed regret that the Convention of St. Germain with regard to control of the arms traffic had not been ratified by the United States and urged that the Washington Conference should take up the matter. He appealed to the workers of the world to help the League to defeat the Herculean forces of militarism. (Loud and prolonged cheers.)

SAYS KOO IS FORCE

Geneva, Oct. 2.—In reviewing the work of the Assembly of the League of Nations, the Geneva correspondent of the Observer, referring to Dr. Wellington Koo, says that he has gained markedly in confidence since last year. His ability and character alike make him a recognised force in the Assembly.

You Gave Your All For Peace, Says Pershing, It Must Replace Hatred

All Will Be In Vain, American General Tells Dead Soldier, Unless Spirit Of Co-Operation Shall Now Prevail In World

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 2.—In the presence of President Millerand and the Ministers and Marshals of France, the American Ambassador, Admiral Niblack, commanding the American naval forces in Europe, and General Allen, commanding the American troops on the Rhine, General Pershing today laid the Congressional Medal on the tomb of France's "unknown soldier" in the Arc de Triomphe. Ten thousand troops from the Paris garrison and 500 picked men of the American troops on the Rhine took part in the ceremony.

General Pershing, addressing the tomb, said: "You gave your all for peace, but your all will be barren unless a generous spirit of unselfish co-operation arises to replace hatred."

M. Barthou, Minister of War, replying, said that France accepted the medal not only as a proof of America's admiration but as a gage of America's fidelity.

MOPLAH FORCES NUMBER 10,000; NOT YET QUELLED

(Reuter's Service)

Simla, Oct. 1.—In the Council of State the Home Secretary said that the latest reports from Malabar showed that the Moplah armed fighting gangs totalled ten thousand. Their resistance was becoming stronger and their guerilla tactics were likely to prolong the military operations. It was impossible therefore to forecast the withdrawal of martial law.

ALIS MUST FACE TRIAL

Karachi, Oct. 2.—The Ali brothers and the other non co-operators have been committed for trial. The accused generally supported Mohammed Ali's statement and attempted to refer to current politics, which the magistrate would not allow.

Calicut, Oct. 2.—The situation at Melattur is most serious. The rebels are offering the Hindus the alternatives of death or Islam. If they hesitate, they are ordered to dig graves and then, if they still refuse to embrace Islam, they are shot and dropped in these graves. A complete swaraj has been proclaimed, and crops belonging to Hindus have been confiscated. The Hindus are fleeing, and over 2,000 refugees are now at Perintalmanna.

Northcliffe Says White Australia Means Immigrants

(Reuter's Service)

Sydney, October 3.—Lord Northcliffe sailed today for the Philippines on his way to Japan and China. He declared that, if Australia desired to remain white, she must encourage Anglo-Saxon immigration by all means in her power. Australia was sufficiently wide and rich comfortably to support a population of twenty times its present number. She could absorb without difficulty 100,000 immigrants a year. Within easy reach of this sparsely peopled continent there were teeming millions, and, if the vacant spaces were not filled by Anglo-Saxons, another human tide would sooner or later overwhelm them.

Man Made Drug Put On The Free List

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 1.—The fancy goods section of the London Chamber of Commerce has decided to request the Board of Trade to remove synthetic camphor from list of articles liable to duty under the Safeguarding of Industries Act.

They declare that it would take months, perhaps years, to instal a plant in Great Britain and to obtain the raw material from Japan.

French Seamen Now Visiting In Britain

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, September 30.—The delegation from the French Seamen's Union was cordially welcomed by the British Seamen's Union in London. The Presidency of the French delegation, M. Rivelli, was instrumental in establishing the first Seamen's Union in Europe.

FRENCH TRADE IS INCREASING, SAY BUSINESS CENTERS

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 2.—The Journal, in an article on the resumption of business in France, states that all news reaching Paris from industrial and commercial centers indicates a recrudescence of business.

Resumption is slow but fairly regular. It is even reported that highly specialised metal works have received important orders. Inquiries made by the Journal in Paris show that the same phenomenon is occurring in the principal branches of commerce and the banks note a similar increase in the results of commerce as witness the reports periodically published by credit institutions.

Moreover in the Ministry of Finance there is full confidence in these symptoms of resumption which appear of good omen for the future. Particularly striking are the increases in certain entries in the balance sheet of the Banque de France. The increase in the receipts of the French Railway Systems are also pleasing.

The Avenir also announces in this connection that for several weeks an appreciable advance has been noted in the daily average of laden cars on the various railways, that for the whole railway system, including the Alsace-Lorraine railways during the month of August reaching 37,397, an increase of 3.042 as compared with July. During the first fortnight of September the average was 40,502.

These figures, compared with the lowest average during the first six months of 1921 (January —33,364) are very significant. They can be appreciated by the fact that in 1920 the average fell to 20,917 (May) and reached its maximum in November with 35,611. The figures for the Alsace-Lorraine railways alone are as follows: August 1921—5,606, and 5,894 for the first fortnight of September.

This resumption of activity throughout the country has had an effect not only on the sale of bonds but on big financial operations.

The issue of new stock of the Banque de Paris et Des Pays Bas, is included in the latter category. This concern has just offered for subscription 100,000 new stock at 500 francs.

The Journal announces that the Banque wished to obtain 75,000,000 francs and the public has subscribed 135,000,000. This unexpected result proves satisfactorily the strength of public confidence. It is natural that this sudden transformation of conditions should react on the Bourse. In fact for a month the Bourse has shown a better tone and manipulators of the market are feeling uncomfortable.

The Journal in conclusion states that there is every reason for rejoicing at these signs and for the hope that they will develop more definitely in the future.

AFGHAN PACT IS NEARER NOW THAT GHULAM IS THERE

(Reuter's Service)

Peshawar, Oct. 2.—Advices from Kabul bear out the impression that the return of Ghulam Siddiq would influence favorably the Indo-Afghan negotiations. It is understood that the prospects for a satisfactory conclusion of these negotiations have brightened.

TSAR'S FATE SEALED, BUT COMMUNISM ALSO PASSES

Maxim Gorky Sees New Rule Coming Which Will Be Rational

OR ELSE CHAOS!

Says Mass Of Peasantry Is Brutal, Debased And Hardly Human

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 3.—Maxim Gorky, interviewed by the Daily News, declared that communism would pass away from Russia, giving birth to some sort of Socialist Republic or even to a Democratic Republic, similar to that of the United States, but the vast experiment now being made in Russia would have enormous influence on the position of the proletariat. There was no chance whatever of a return of the Tsarist regime.

The people largely supported the Communist Government because no alternative was at present possible. If the Soviet fell, complete chaos would ensue. The opposition of the peasants was too great for the success of Communism. The vast mass of the Russian peasantry were a barrier to all progress.

They were brutal, debased and hardly human. There was a complete cleavage between the country and the towns. Only the intellectuals could save Russia. Maxim Gorky was greatly impressed by the British trade agreement from which he expected great things.

Norman And Muncie Leave Under Guard Of Soldiers

Amos E. Norman, leading character in a drama which held the interest of all Shanghai through four weeks after Norman and a companion, Henry Muncie, escaped from the American prison, goes off stage today. Norman and Muncie have played their parts here "through" to the end, and having been surrendered by the American authorities here to the United States Army, the two former soldiers of the 15th U. S. Infantry are being taken to Tientsin under guard of Sergts. J. W. Bateman and John Lavelle to face court martial.

It was while Norman was being held in the American prison as a deserter from the United States Army that Henry Muncie was imprisoned on a charge of obtaining property by false pretenses and also as a deserter. On the night of Sept. 7 both men made a sensational escape after making a murderous attack upon Jailer G. J. Engberg.

A week later Muncie was recaptured, but for four weeks Norman successfully eluded his pursuers and while remaining in hiding communicated daily with them in letters that he addressed to THE CHINA PRESS.

Civil charges that are pending against the culprits include prison breaking and assault with intent to kill, besides the charge of fraud against Muncie who at the time he deserted from the army was under court martial sentence of two years imprisonment for former offenses.

In order to comply with legal requirements in the two cases a hearing is to be held at 8 o'clock this morning before U. S. Commissioner F. J. Schuhl when formal Court orders will be issued transferring custody of the two prisoners from U. S. Marshal N. E. Lurton to Sergeants Bateman and Lavelle. The Sergeants with their two prisoners are scheduled to leave Shanghai on the 9:30 o'clock train this morning.

CLEMENCEAU SEES GERMAN TRADE AS FRANCE'S MENACE

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 2.—At the inauguration today of a monument in his honor at Sainte-Hormine (Vendee), M. Clemenceau, in an eloquent speech on France victorious, referring to the Treaty of Versailles, said that the scheme for assuring the peace of the world, even to the confines of the Far East, was magnificent, but the Far East was far away while the German frontier was close at hand.

The Washington Conference would have an opportunity of remedying obvious faults in execution. Nobody, he continued, would refuse to consider the French question as on the same footing as the Pacific question. No ally would want for the sake of greater trade intercourse to favor the economic resurrection of Germany at the expense of France.

TRADE IMPROVES IN U. S. RESERVE BOARD REPORTS

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, October 1.—The Federal Reserve Board's monthly review reports decided improvement in the credit situation while improvement is expected in the wholesale and retail trades. The advance in steel, first noted in August, has been sustained with increased employment in many lines.

Textiles have been well sustained but there is less activity in silk. The upward trend of prices continues. The month has been a period of distinct encouragement and promises better conditions for the autumn and winter.

MISSIONARY FREE WHEN EXPEDITION TAKES THE FIELD

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 30.—The capture by brigands of Mr. Parker, the missionary, near Yunnanfu last month was followed by a communication from the bandit chief to the Yunnan Authorities to the effect that their prisoner would be killed unless the whole body of the bandits were taken over by the military authorities and incorporated in the regular forces of that province.

The Tuchun, however, looked upon the threat as a harmless attempt at bluffing the Authorities and sent one of his Generals to inform the bandits that, if harm were done to Mr. Parker, he would hunt all the bandits down at once and execute them summarily.

More than a month passed since the capture of the missionary. During that period his friends were extremely anxious, for but little news was received regarding him, while the Yunnan officer merely reported that he would be successful in his mission. The bandits at first peremptorily refused to liberate their prisoner, and then submitted other terms which were not acceptable to the Authorities.

A period of two weeks then passed in which no news was received. It is surmised that the Yunnan General resorted to miltary preparations against the bandits, for on the 26th instant it was reported that Mr. Parker has been rescued.

It is reported that it is still doubtful whether Mr. Chow Tzechi and Mr. Wang Tah-hsieh will go to Washington. If they are persuaded to do so it is thought probable that they will leave Peking in company with the Minister for Foreign Affairs, Dr. Yen.

General Tsao Kun has requested the Government to appoint General Tang Tsai-li as a special military counsellor to the Washington delegation. General Tang was in Europe during the great war.

SHANGHAI SITE OF CONFERENCE SAYS GENL. CHEN

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 29.—General Chen Chiung-ming has telegraphed to General Lu Yung-hsiang, Tuchun of Chekiang, and General Chow Heng-ti, Commander-in-Chief in Hunan, approving their suggestion to hold a peace conference at Shanghai instead of at Lushan as proposed by General Chang Show-tseng

Peking, Sept. 29.—Amid a great amount of Southern propaganda regarding the proposed Southern expedition against the North a few facts emerge, namely that General Tang Chi-yao is endeavoring to secure public support in Yunnan and create sympathy with Dr. Sun Yat-sen's pet plan.

General Tang is still at Hongkong and can count upon the support of Canton only in the event of his being able to influence the Yunnanese in favor of the expedition.

General Kou Ping-chun, Tuchun of Yunnan, seems to be minding his own business and holding aloof from all strife outside his province, but his sympathies are said to be with General Wu Pei-fu.

Without the co-operation of Yunnan it is thought that the Southern expedition will remain an idea of Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

Unfavorable news to the South is also reported from Kwangsi, where General Ma Chi is holding up the advance of General Li Lieh-chen.

SHANGHAI, NOT LUSHAN

Peking, Sept. 30.—It is stated that General Chang Shao-tseng who proposed the Lushan Conference, has arrived at Shanghai. He is said to have abandoned his scheme, but to favor a merging of the suggested Lushan conference with that to be held at Shanghai.

INVADERS DRIVEN OUT

Peking, Sept. 30.—General Wu Pei-fu has issued a circular telegram stating that he has succeeded in driving out all Szechuanese troops from the territory of Hupei.

WILL CONGRATULATE WU

Peking, Sept. 30.—It is understood that General Tsao Kun has despatched Mr. Pien Show-ching Chairman of the Chihli Provincial Assembly, to Ichang to convey his congratulations to General Wu Pei fu on the latter's valuable services to the Government in his defeat of the Szechuanese. Mr. Pien telegraphed that he would leave Hankow for Ichang yesterday.

STILL FIRE ON SHIPS

Ichang, Oct. 1.—The steamer Ilsiakiang arrived from Chungking on Thursday and reported that it was not fired at and that few soldiers were seen on the river banks.

Considering this report and the general retreat of the Szechuenese army favorable, the steamer Meitan made an attempt to proceed to Chungking this morning and the Loongmow followed

The latter and the Meitan were fusilladed at Tatungtan and both steamers returned to port.

CHANG IN SHANGHAI

Peking, Sept. 30.—General Feng Yu-hsiang, the Tuchun of Shensi has telegraphed to the Government asking for funds and ammunition in order that he may take precautions against a possible return of General Chen Shu-fan's men from Kanchow. The nature of the Government's reply is not stated.

PROTEST FIRING ON SHIPS

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Sept. 30.—Telegrams of protest have been received by the American Legation with regard to the situation upon the Yangtsze river. Three American firms, the Standard Oil Company, the Robert Dollar Company and Gillespie Bros. have telegraphed the Legations that shipping conditions on the river are absolutely impossible, that their boats are being fired upon to such an extent by the various troops along the waterway that it is not safe for them to send any boats up the river.

They say that the shipping north of Ichang has been completely stopped. They ask the American Legation to take steps to remedy the situation.

The Gillespie Bros. report that three of their junks have been seized by the Southern forces.

In an interview with a foreigner who has just returned from the Yangtsze Valley several interesting stories were told with regard to the condition on the river. In the case of the steamer Shuhung who was taken over by General Wu Pei-fu who refused to release the vessel it is reported that the captain said:

"This boat of mine sails under a French Flag; she is Chinese owned and we carry guns and munitions of war; and I am a Britisher, and where do I get off?"

There is also a report that the consuls who called upon General Wu Pei-fu with regard to the seizure of this vessel were told that he had taken that boat and he had his eye on a half-a-dozen more who were running under similar disguises.

Faces Develop New Type, Says Surgeon

Experts Differ As To Whether, If True, Means Englishmen Are Handsomer

London, Aug. 12.—Since Prof. Arthur Keith of the Royal College of Surgeons announced that the faces of men are changing, a heated controversy has arisen as to whether the change is for better or worse.

Sir William Orpen, the famous portrait painter, says Englishmen are growing handsomer every day. "A firmer type, a stronger jaw is developing," he declared. "Men are approximating more to what is known as the strong silent type.

"I believe you can make yourself like anything you wish within limits. One of these limits is that you become like the people you live with, either in actual life or in the life of the mind. That is why the Englishman is becoming like his strong silent ideal.

"I have also found that husbands grow like their wives and wives grow like their husbands very frequently."

On the other hand, Prof. Patrick Geddes of University College, Dundee, the zoological authority, says emphatically that men are not growing better looking. Presumably he thinks they are becoming uglier.

Prof. Keith, whose annual report to the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons started the controversy, is not saying whether the male face is on the upgrade or down. All he admits is that from the evidence he has accumulated he is convinced that definite changes, particularly in the face and jaws, have been taking place in a large proportion of the British people during the last century or two.

In an effort to decide the issue several experts in the geography and topography of the human "map" have made exhaustive tours of the National Portrait Gallery, which contains some thousand paintings of English historical personages for the last 400 years. But the investigation failed to convince the experts that there had been any change great enough to improve or spoil English male beauty.

THE FINGER OF SCORN

Amusing Reminiscences Of A Poet-Barrister-Novelist

In his whimsical autobiography the author of "Some Personalities" (Murray, 15s.) tells a good story of Benjamin Francis Williams, K. C., the Recorder of Cardiff. He was cross-examining the plaintiff in a slander case on his sufferings, and asked him "Did they point the finger of scorn at you?"

Vaughan Williams, who was on the bench, rolled himself about in his indescribable way, and inquired: "And which is the finger of scorn, Mr. Williams?

Without a moment's hesitation B. F. retorted: "I believe it's the thumb, my lord," at the same time putting his own thumb to his nose and extending his fingers as nearly in his lordship's direction as was prudent.

As illustrating the proverbial leniency of Welsh juries, the author tells the old story of an English judge who went to a coursing match shortly after going the Welsh Circuit. "When he saw the hare almost in the greyhound's jaws he exclaimed, 'Nothing can save that hare now but a Welsh jury.'"

Is it any secret who the author of these "Personalities" is? He is a barrister who has written poetry, a Welshman who claims descent from the Dark Lady of the Sonnets, a writer of popular novels, a mountmaster, a soldier of fortune, a humorous causeur, a political organiser, and a wayward pilgrim with a bulging pack of unconventional notions. Moreover, he is the author of "The New Word," and that, we know, is Mr. Allen Upward.

A WARNING TO MOTHERS.

In infantile diarrhoea never give medicine to check the movement of the bowels except upon the advice of a physician. The right treatment is to cleanse the bowels of the irritating secretions which are the cause of the trouble. Many mothers have found Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, immensely valuable for this serious malady.

Baby's Own Tablets contain no opiates and are a proved remedy for teething troubles, constipation, colic, indigestion, simple fever and worms. Of chemists, or from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., 9c Szechuen Road, Shanghai at 60 cents the vial, post free.

New Novel And Letters Stir France And Belgium

Paris, August 6.—The French and Belgian social worlds are much agitated over the report that the Comte de Jehay, better known as the Belgian author "Bansteen," is facing prosecution for writing anonymous letters involving the reputation of members of prominent families, including a lady of honor to Queen Elizabeth.

The Belgian police have been investigating complaints against a certain anonymous "Monsieur X." for several months without success, but recently the Comte de Jehay published a social novel, "Strange Lover," in which there were many passages resembling strangely the allegations mentioned in the anonymous letters.

Although the volume was published in Paris, the Belgian police have proscribed its entry into Belgium and have ordered that they be notified of the addresses of all persons to whom Comte de Jehay sent private copies. Even the French publishers have been drawn into the situation. This week they were called before a French court to give evidence as to who subscribed for the edition de luxe, which is of several hundred copies.

Comte de Jehay has denied all complicity of intimate knowledge of affairs at the Belgian court, but he is under the severest suspicion, and it is reported he was unable to obtain passports to France. While on occasional trips to Belgian resorts he was constantly under police surveillance.

FRENCH DUKE IS MARRIED TO SPANISH BEAUTY

Montpensier Makes Viscountess de los Antrines His Bride

MAY BE EXILED ANY DAY

Younger Brother Of Duc d'Orleans Would On Latter's Demise Be Pretender

BY EDWIN L. JAMES

Paris, Aug. 20.—Over the magnificent chateau de Randan, in Puy-de-Dome, where Prince Fedinand Due de Montpensier was married today to the Spanish beauty, Isabel de Valdeterrazzo, Viscountess de los Antrines, in the presence of about all that is left of French Bourbon nobility, a dark shadow hung, for the bridegroom is the younger brother of the Duc d'Orleans, pretender to the French throne, and is thereby a prospective exile from France. On the death of his brother, the Due de Montpensier becomes pretender and must get out of the country. Thus his wedding gift to his bride was the beautiful castle from which th couple may have to flee almost any time.

The Due de Montpensier, born at the Chateau d'Eu, Sept. 9, 1884, is very democratic and does not confine his invitations to the nobility, and among his acquaintances there is a demand that the law decreeing the expulsion of the heir to pretensions to the French throne be repealed. But there is probably little vchance of that being done. The Duc d'Orleans used to live in England until his reported indescretions with regard to his recollections of Queen Victoria roade it somewhat uncomfortable for him in London. When the Germans went into Belgium he returned to London until the war was over. Since the war he has been living in Belgium.

The laws of the republic, in addition to threatening him with exile, made it necessary for the Duke and his bride and the widow of King Carlos of Portugal, the Due de Vendome and other nobles to go yesterday to the humble Town Hall of Randar and be married by civil ceremony, which was performed by the Mayor, M. Dazet. Today th religious marriage took place in the Duke's ancient palace.

The fief of Dandan dates from 1649. It belonged first to the Poligence family, and later passed to the Dufort family, one member of which, as a Marshal of France, bore the title of Marshal de Randan. In beloned to the Rochefoucauld family when Mme. Adelaide sister of Louis Philippe, acquired it. The castle stands about three kilometers from Vichy, and with is beautiful grounds is one of the show places of France. Its grand salon remains as it was in the days of Mme. Adleaide and the whole place is rion in historic memories. Near by is a studio, the modern walls of which are covered with heads of tigers and lions the Duke has bagged on his many bunting trip.

During the war the Countess of Paris, mother of the Duke, installed in the chateau a hospital of forty beds. On her death she bequeathed to her son permitted to remain in France the continuance of her charitable works, which were many.

How long the Duke and his wife will live in their beautiful chateau will depend on the health of the Duc d'Orleans, who passes his time in a villa on the outskirts of Brussels doing nothing much more strenuous than writing letters to the faithful, which are published from time to time in the Action Francoise, the Royalist organ of Paris, which twice a week reminds its readers that all the ills to which France is heir would quickly pass away if the King came back to the banks of the Seine.

Mixed Court Notes

After admitting that he had advanced $80 on a ring proved to have been stolen from Mrs. Price of 308 Avenue Foch, a Chinese pawnbroker was ordered yesterday in the Mixed Court to return the ring to the owner. The theft was committed by a boy employed on the premises, according to the testimony.

A Chinese, described as an habitual thief in the Mixed Court yesterday was sentenced to two years imprisonment after it was shown that he had ten previous convictions for larceny in addition to one of having returned to the Settlement after expulsion.

A charge of murder was preferred against Zah Ah-kung in the Mixed Court yesterday following a shooting that occurred a week ago in Swatow Road in which one Sung Foo-sung received wounds from which he subsequently died. It was brought out in testimony given by the police that the defendant also has violated an order of expulsion. The hearing was continued.

Cattle Perish When Municipal Shed Is Burned

Over three hundred animals, including 279 sheep and 34 calves perished in a fire that destroyed one of the Municipal Cattle Sheds early Sunday. The blaze was reported shortly before midnight by Mr. E. A. P. Wood who had seen it from an automobile in which he was riding.

On arrival of the Hongkew Division it was found that the fire had made considerable headway. All efforts were made to save the imprisoned beasts and a number were led out to safety, but it was impossible to save the others.

The fire was quickly extinguished and the living quarters of Chinese attendants were saved.

The cause of the fire is being investigated.

Byng Makes A Hit As Canadian Chief

Only Criticism Of Governor-General Is Possibility Of Militaristic Tendencies

Toronto, Aug. 20.—Lord Byng of Vimy made an excellent impression upon his arrival to take up his duties as Governor General. Despite his long army training, where he had a reputation as a disciplinarian, and his high rank, he proved to be even more democratic in his attitude toward the public than either of his two distinguished predecessors, the Duke of Devonshire and the Duke of Connaught. He laughingly explained that he had been warned not to patronise Canadians.

The only hint at criticism in connection with his accesion to office is to the effect that possibly his close connection with the Canadian Army and the circumstances of his appointment, because of that connection, may lead the militaristically inclined to seek to influence him to bring pressure to bear on the Government to favor their projects. These projects might be perfectly sound in themselves, but projects are not supposed to be advanced in Canada through the Governor General's office. The Governor must accept advice from his Government as representatives of the people and from no one else.

Tourist Traffic Booming In Italy

In view of the occasional alarmist reports which are from time to time circulated as to labor troubles and political riots in Italy, the following statement on the past season's tourist traffic, which has been issued by the Fiat Automobile Company of Turin, is of particular interest to those who contemplate a vacation in Europe.

"Italy has now fully regained the favorite position she occupied before the war in the estimation of tourists. This is shown by official statistics concerning the number of holiday-makers, both Italian and foreign, who visited the better known resorts in various parts of Italy last year. During the month of August, for instance, the region of Venice received an average of 40,000 visitors a day.

"Although this month is not the most agreeable for touring, the number of foreign tourists was high in all the resorts appealing to travellers. Thus, Florence received 3,833 tourists, of which 32 percent were foreigners, comprising 577 Americans, 107 English, 114 French, 92 Belgians and Scandinavians, and 77 South Americans.

"There is every indication that the number of foreign tourists to Italy will soon be higher than ever, and that Americans will come in particularly big numbers. This is not surprising in view of the magnificient natural beauty of the Italian Alps, the favorable climate, and the historic and artistic wealth of the country.

"The touring movement is encouraged by the wonderful road system convering not only the plains, but penetrating into the Alps and the Appenines, regions which have not suffered by the destruction of war, and thus opening up some of nature's most cherished treasures. Tourist parties will be interested to learn that in general the road surfaces are good, and supplies of petrol can always be found, so that now there is no reason to hesitate on bringing a car into Italy for fear of not being able to make full use of it.

"Railroads always being expensive to construct in a mountainous country, Italy has thoroughly developed public motor transport services, and regular passenger—carrying lines operate all over the country, from the snow clad slopes of Mont Blanc and the Stelvio to the golden tinted hills above Syracuse and Palermo.

"Considering the most important lines only, the Fiat company last year maintained a service of passenger-carrying cars in regular operation throughout Italy, over practically 10,000 miles of roads. This greatly contributed to the increase in the number of tourists, permitting them to visit many interesting places which, until now, were nearly inaccessible.

"Foreign visitors can be assured of a cordial and courteous reception from all those with whom they will have to come in contact in Italy. In this connection, the declaration made by Mr. Robert Underwood Johnson, before he retired from the position of United States Ambassador to Rome, is of interest. 'I wish to repeat,' said Mr. Johnson, 'what I have already reported to my government, that foreign visitors are received everywhere with the greatest cordiality. Reports to the contrary, which have been circulated in certain quarters, are untrue. Americans who have called at the Embassy have not failed to speak of the politeness they have met with, and the kindly treatment they have received from Italians. I must add that next season large numbers of Americans will certainly come to Europe and will visit the wonderful cities of Italy.'"

CAPT. BARRETT'S JAPAN XI HAS ADVANTAGE OVER REST IN SUNDAY'S DRAWN MATCH

Has 221 For 9 Compared With Opponents' 160 For 7 At Darkness

In order that Capt. Barrett's Japan XI. might have the opportunity of playing together as a side, a match was arranged on Sunday between them and an S.C.C. XI. and an enjoyable game resulted, the hard fast wicket and outfield accounting for high scoring on both sides.

The match resulted in a draw, somewhat in the Japan XI's. favor, they scoring 221 for nine declared, to which their opponents replied with 160 for 7, the failing light causing play to cease at twenty to six.

Barrett's XI. opened with Hayward and Deeks and 38 was on the board before they were separated, of which Hayward had scored 25. Barrett, on going in, lost his partner 3 runs later, but when he and Wainwright got going they took the score to ninety with plucky cricket and fast scoring—at which point the tiffin interval was called.

Resuming play at 2:15 p.m. Barrett and Wainwright carried the score to 120, when the former had to go l.b.w. to Billings for a well played 36. At 162, Thomson, who never really got going mishit one of Clifford's slows and was caught by Hill (162-4-13). A few runs later, Wainwright who was playing a good forceful game, was beautifully taken at mid-on one hand by Leslie and retired with a useful 62.

Brook and Bichard played very careful cricket and the scoring slowed down, despite several good off drives to the boundary by Bichard, who was well caught by Muriel one hand close in when he had made 17 (196-7-17). At this stage, Barnes who had been keeping very well, came into his own and stumped Allison and caught Caulton before either had scored—Billings taking 3 wickets in that over for no runs. Vine, a left hander, came in, and in his 16 included three lusty drives to the boundary, the innings closing at ten to four for 221 for nine. Brook carrying his bat for 25.

BILLINGS BOWLED BEST

Billings showed the best analysis taking 5 for 28, though Leach did most of the bowling. He was more erratic than usual, his two wickets costing 86.

Shortly after four, Barrett's eleven took the field, the Club sending in. Day and Mansel-Smith to open against Allison and Vine. Runs came freely, the first five men getting well into double figures and 80 went up before the first wicket fell, and two runs later Muriel lost his partner. Day had played a vigorous 49 including a fine six and several fours. Muriel and Leach added a brisk 40 for the third wicket, Leach being taken at point by Thomson off a mishit. His fifteen was not got in his usual crisp style and he took more risks. Muriel as usual registered several beautiful shots on his off, his square cuts going to the boundary.

With his going, bowled by Vine for 35, things quieted down, the light beginning to go. McMeekin added a scratchy nine and two wickets fell in quick succession, Leslie being caught at square leg by Hayward and Pearson bowled by Allison before either had scored, the innings closing at 160 for 7, Clifford being unbeaten with fifteen to his credit.

The fielding and catching all round was good, Bichard taking McMeekin with a well judged catch at deep third man, and Hansell picking up and throwing in exceptionally well at cover, covering a lot of ground. Allison's three wickets cost 42, his analysis being the best. The Japan XI. weakness is in its shortage of bowling but it is hoped that at least one of the four regular trundlers will come.

SHANGHAI WAS OUTCLASSED AT HONGKONG SWIM

Press Reports Show That First Day's Speed Event Was Easy For Johnstone

Hongkong, Sept. 27.—Great public interest was taken in the opening events of the Interport Aquatic Festival which were decided on an 80-yards course outside the Victoria Recreation Club last evening. Large crowds of spectators watched the competitions from the Club premises, the praya wall, launches in the harbor and the buildings overlooking the course. Only two events were down for decision, the chief being the half-mile Interport which attacted considerable attention owing to the fact that both E. A. Siemssen, the Shanghai "crack," and J. Johnstone, the local Champion, were appearing. Johnstone however had him well beaten all the way and when the Shanghai man retired after the eighth lap the local man was leading by about 12 yards and going very strongly.

THE HALF MILE

The first event was the Half-Mile Interport, for which the first prize was presented by Capt. L. Hussey. Shanghai had entered five men and Hongkong six, but of this number only E. A. Th. Siemssen and F. A. Remedios, of Shanghai, and J. Johnstone, G. Jack and D. Laing, of Hongkong, competed. The course being one of only 80 yards, eleven laps were necessary. All the men got off well together, the local representatives and Siemssen keeping well together with Remedios slightly in the rear. The first lap was completed in 56 3-5 seconds. Johnstone early established a lead with Laing, Jack and Siemssen close behind and Remedios falling badly in the rear. At the end of the fourth lap, when Johnstone was quite three yards in front of his nearest opponent, Remedios was in a hopeless position and retired. At the sixth the local champion had increased his lead to six yards and was swimming strongly. Jack and Laing were slightly ahead of Siemssen in the seventh lap, owing to the latter failing to keep a straight course. At the eighth Johnstone was a clear twelve yards in front and Siemssen retired. Owing to a misunderstanding Laing finished at the end of the ninth lap. The race was now between Johnstone and Jack, the former holding a commanding lead and increasing it the further he went. He finished up quite fresh doing the half mile in 12 minutes 57 2-5 seconds and being quite 35 yards in front of Jack whose time was 13 min., 38 seconds. Hongkong thus secured five points (3 for a win and 2 for second) on the first event.

THROWING THE POLO BALL

Mr. C. B. Brooke presented the first prize for this event. Shanghai were represented by R. W. MacCabe, L. Goldman, C. J. Encarnacao and F. A. Remedios and Hongkong by E. Busschaert, M. L. Railton, R. C. Witchell, G. A. Carvalho and L. M. Franco.

MacCabe was an easy first sending the ball 74 yards, Busschaert being second with 64¾ yards.

At the conclusion of the program a reception was held at the Club and was very well attended.

Do Home Runs Win Games? Answer By Veteran Scorer

BY E. A. MUSCHAMP

Do home runs win games?

I put this question to Francis C. Richter, for nine years official scorer of the World's Series, who has studied and analysed thousands of games and is accepted as an authority.

"Well, let's take Babe Ruth as an example and see," replied Richter. "Of the first 15 home runs that he made this season only two figured decisively. On the other hand, in his first game this season he made no home runs but he had five hits in five times up. He was a big factor in his team's winning that first game.

"Look at the New York Yankees last season. Ruth alone had 54 home runs. The whole team had 115. Did New York win the pennant? No! they came in third.

"It's a fact that most World's Series championships have not been won by home runs. There have been, of course, notable exceptions. Last year, you remember, in the Sunday game at Cleveland, Elmer Smith hit a home run when the bases were full, and that hit won the game. But it wasn't home runs that won the series. Back in 1911 Frank Baker of the Athletics won his nickname of 'Homerun Baker' by knocking 2 home runs in one series—one off Marquard and one of Christy Mathewson, and then he got another in the 1913 series. Hooper had 2 in the 1915 series of the Phillies' pitchers. But it is my recollection that it was Duffy Lewis's home run in the same series that figured more in Boston winning than both of Hooper's.

"A bigger asset to a baseball club when it comes to winning games and championships—bigger by far than home run hitters—is a man like Willie Keeler," said the veteran. "You remember Willie—why, he wasn't much bigger than a cake of soap—he could hit whenever and wherever he wanted to. He batted .300 and over for ten years and led the league in batting practically all that time.

"Then there was old Ed Delahanty, who could do anything in the way of batting and could bat to all fields equally well."

"But wasn't Ed Delahanty one of the greatest home run hitters in the history of baseball as well as a timely batter?" I asked.

"He was all of that," replied Mr. Richter. "You know, Delahanty and Bobby Lowe still hold the major league home run batting record for a single game. Delahanty was an outfielder for the Philadelphia team, and one afternoon in July, 1896, while playing against the Chicago Club at Chicago, Delahanty made the record of 4 home runs and 1 single—a batting feat that never has been surpassed, and equalled only once in either of the big leagues. He made those home runs and the single against Pitchers Terry and Garvin. In 1904 Bobby Lowe, second baseman on the Boston Nationals, batting against pitcher Chamberlain of the Cincinnati Club, equalled Delahanty's record.

"There are three other home run records that should not be overlooked, even if they were not made in major league games. In Buffalo in 1895 Bobby Bottenus, an outfielder on the Buffalo team, made 4 home-runs and a two-bagger against the Wilkes-Barre Club. And that record was equalled as recently as June 24, 1919, by none other than George Kelly of the Giants, who is giving Babe Ruth and the others such a hard run for home run

Johnny Walker Hit By Batted Ball Near Death

Johnny Walker, the first baseman for the Athletics, was hit August 17, the anniversary of the death of Ray Crapman, when a line drive from Jamieson's bat at Cleveland, Ohio, took a bad bound and struck him on the side of the head. He was rushed to the Lakeside Hospital, where an X-ray was made to ascertain if his skull had been fractured.

Tennis Popular Sport in Harbin

That tennis is a popular sport in Harbin is fully confirmed by the large entries and the still larger crowds that have followed the various games in the Spring and Autumn tournaments that have taken place at the Harbin Lawn Tennis Club this year. This was particularly noticeable on Saturday afternoon, September 25, when a large gallery watched the final round of the Club's Singles Championship.

The match started promptly at 3 p.m. and it was a trifle over two hours afterwards that the last point was won. After tea had been served Brigadier General Beckett, O. B. E., introduced Madame d'Anjou, the wife of Commissioner of Customs, who handed out the prizes to the winners.

After the presentation dancing was started and kept up to a late hour.

HONGKONG POLO MEN THINK 1921 PROSPECTS EVEN

Interport Match Will Be A Close Contest, Experts Predict

Hongkong, Sept. 27.—The "Keswick" Cup, presented some years ago by Mr. Henry Keswick to be played for between teams representing Hongkong and Shanghai, is the trophy which goes to the winner of the coming Interport Polo Match.

The Shanghai team, at present holder of the Cup, is due here by the Empress of Russia on the 6th, and the match is to be played on Monday, October 10 at 4:30 p.m.

The Shanghai team consists of and is placed as follows unless some new formation is decided upon before the match: Harold Robinson (back), E. H. MacMichael (3), C. C. Boyd (2), J. H. Brennan (1). A. David is reserve man.

Robinson and MacMichael were members of the Shanghai team which defeated Hongkong in last year's match held in Shanghai, and are both good, sound, reliable players with many years' experience of the game. Boyd is a fast and dashing player, and rides well. Brennan also can make a China pony gallop, and has the advantage of being very light.

The Hongkong team consists of: Major Timmis (back), Captain Neville (3), J. E. H. Bibby (2), C. Sargeaunt (1). Reserve man, J. Bell-Irving.

Major Timmis played number two in last year's match and is a very experienced player and sound hitter, who knows the game from A. to Z.

Captain Neville, who, although quite new to the Colony and to China polnes, is a reliable No. 3, and has a good knowledge of the game.

Bibby plays a fast game and is a good accurate hitter all round his pony. Sargeaunt also goes, and is a good hitter.

As far as the players are concerned, and the writer has seen all eight play this year, it looks like being a close match.

The Shanghai ponies arrived by the Kwongsang last Saturday, and landed in good condition. They are a useful looking lot and there are some fine weight carriers among them.

On Wednesday, the 12th it has been decided to hold a Polo Gymkhana on the Polo Ground. Events will comprise Musical Chairs on ponies (without saddles), pony golf, Cigarette and Needle threading race, etc. etc., and an event which should prove attractive—section tent-pegging between the Shanghai Polo team and a Hongkong team, not yet selected. MacMichael is an expert with the lance and Robinson has done a good deal of it, and Hongkong have several who are fair at the game.

The Polo ground at Causeway Bay is in pretty fair order though a trifle hard and bumpy at the moment, but with the help of a little rain which is pretty sure to come some time between now and the 10th the ground should be in good condition.

honors. Kelly was playing on the Rochester Club then, and in a game against Reading at the latter place, in six times at bat he made 4 home runs and one two-bagger.

"Then there is that classic swat festival that took place down in Texas in 1902," and Mr. Richter smiled as he added: "The Corsicana Club and the Texarkana were playing a regularly scheduled game in the Texas League on July 14. Corsicana won by a score of 51 to 3 and had a total of 53 hits. Nig Clark, who afterward became catcher in one of the big leagues, made a home run record that never has been equalled, and I doubt if it ever will be. He was at bat eight times and he made 8 home runs. Alexander and Pendelton, two other players, were each at bat eight times and each had eight hits."

As a snapper to his talk, Mr. Richter added this:

"In my opinion, Babe Ruth is a much better pitcher than he is an outfielder," he said. "If he had been used as a pitcher last year, I believe the Yankees would have been strengthened where they needed it most and would have won the pennant and stood a good chance in the World's Series."

American Golfer's Handicap

REFLECTIONS ON THE HOYLAKE CHAMPIONSHIP

BY ABE MITCHELL

I AM afraid many false deductions may be made from the play in the Amateur Championship and perhaps the chief of these will be that the American golfer has been proclaimed beyond his merit. On the form displayed at Hoylake he certainly does not rank as high as one expected, but it is probable that the form was all wrong. At any rate neither Vardon nor Ray has lost faith in Bobbie Jones and one is safe in accepting their judgment.

The player who comes from abroad is heavily handicapped by the change in the conditions. The position is the same when the British golfer travels afield. For example, Cyril Tolley completely failed to impress the Americans. Many have described him to be a very ordinary player and I have not always succeeded in convincing them that they did him an injustice. Indeed I am told that this was the opinion of our present guests when they first arrived. But they rate Tolley differently now. Indeed, he has surprised them greatly. Francis Ouimet has declared that there was no competitor in the championship who could play the full wooden shot up to the hole with greater skill and this shot, in my opinion, is the supreme test in golf. So just as the Americans misjudged Tolley, it is probable that we should misjudge them if we accepted as correct the disappointing form the exhibited at Hoylake.

TOO MUCH HUSTLE

I am assured that Evans, Ouimet and Jones are great golfers and that Guildford is little behind them. How was it, then, that they collapsed one after the other so sensationally? Two conditions were not in their favor. In the first place they are accustomed to playing 36 holes matches in which there is time to recover from a bad start or from some temporary breakdown. In the 18 holes spring, however, a player must be screwed up from the first tee shot and to start badly is almost fatal. It was probably this difference in the conditions that was responsible for the defeat of Ouimet. He did not get going until late in his round and he had then left himself too much leeway to make up. It is fair to say this without detracting from the merit of his opponent's win.

An American not taking part in the championship said to me: "There must be something wrong in the conditions when they produce such results." He presumed that the best man had not won in all the matches.

After the Hoylake experience, no doubt another attempt will be made to induce the Authorities to conduct the championship on different lines. Just as in the case of the Open it would be good if some method of reducing the number of competitors could be found. I see that George Duncan suggests that the entrance fee for the Open should be increased to £10. That would unquestionably keep some players, who regard the championship chiefly as a holiday outing, from entering. But another system must be found for the Amateur event and the only one so far proposed is that carried out in America. There a thirty-six holes test by stroke play is gone through and then the thirty-two players returning the best scores engage in thirty-six holes matches.

St. Andrews has always set its face sternly against stroke play in connection with the Amateur Championship but there is no doubt that the thirty-six holes match is a sounder and fairer test than that over one round. Even St. Andrews has admitted this by playing the final over 36 holes. Again despite the handicap restriction I think the tendancy will be for the entries to increase rather than diminish. I am told that at Hoylake it was a rare hustle on the second day. One player I know of had only twenty-minutes rest between finishing one match and having to go out to play another. There was not even time for lunch and in these circumstances it was hardly surprising that he was defeated. This, too, was one of the competitors who might easily have won the championship. He made no complaint, but, naturally, he had a well-founded grievance.

FAILURE OF RIBBED CLUB

The other condition against Americans was the state of the course. It was scorched brown and as hard as a turnpike road. In the circumstances even the little pitches were terrifying and it was quite impossible to stop the ball with the full iron shot up to the hole. Most of the Americans carried at least one ribbed club, but it was significant that they did not make much use of it. At any rate they were no more successful in stopping the ball with it than they were with their plain faced clubs. By the way, I hear this ribbed club is to be barred in America as well as in this country. The two national Authorities are in agreement that it is not a legitimate implement. Greens in America are so closely guarded in front that practically all the approaches have to be pitched, and the greens are kept so moist that you can pitch up to the hole and be certain of stopping the ball. At Hoylake the Americans found that this type of shot would not answer; indeed it was fatal. On coming down from a high shot the ball would bounce many feet in the air and to a large extent it was a matter of luck how it 'kicked' and finished. It may be thought that to play short and allow for the run would not severely tax the resources of the first-class golfer, but when you have never been called upon to play this type of shot, I can realise that it would not come easily. I know the Americans felt that they were severely handicapped because the pitch and run was not in their collection of strokes.

I have no doubt that the Americans would have liked Hoylake better if the course had been in normal state. At the same time, though Willie Hunter is a good enough golfer to have won under any conditions, I think there would have been many different results. For one thing there was no troublesome wind and we rely on wind to make the test on the seaside links.

Again the course was thrown out of proper perspective owing to the excessive run of the ball on the hard ground. Indeed, those who had made their first acquaintance with Hoylake during the championship do not know it and they can have no conception of its difficulties. I am told that the sixteenth was about the only hole where two full wooden shots were needed. At the same time Hunter is a worthy champion as the fact of his winning on the sixteenth green indicates.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in ivilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

Research Slighted Again

Lessons Of The War Soon Forgotten By Industries Facing Adjustment

BY C. A. DOREMUS, M.D., Ph. D.

It took over fifty years of persistent constructive work and a war to convince manufacturers and corporations of the great advantage of research staffs. Yet at the first intimation of readjustment these are pared to the bone, or dismissed. This is false economy.

With what admiration we saw our technical men overcome the unpreparedness of the nation, the growth of plants overnight, the solution of difficulties which with pre-war conditions it would have taken years to surmount. Must these new and valuable assets, so advantageous and profitable, be thrown into the discard for lack of common sense?

Our educational institutions, which have radically changed their course to meet the growing demand for instruction in the arts and sciences, have seen their best men drawn to industrial plants and have appealed to the public to endow these institutions in order to retain high-class instructors at a living wage. These trained workers, who have wrought such wonders in the world of manufactures, now find their services dispensed with, and in consequence the whole structure of industrial research is toppling.

This work may be defined as the application of scientific principles to useful ends. Franklin's kite flying led to the lightning rod. Iceland spar splits a ray of light into two rays of different properties. Prisms of this spar, in a polariscope, enable the refiner to buy his raw sugar intelligently and conduct its treatment with accuracy. Some crystals vary in electric conductivity under pressure. This fact was utilised by the Naval Board to detect submarines.

"Team work" is often required to perfect invention—long distance telephony and the tungsten electric bulb show this.

We excel in optical glass owing to co-operative skill.

This is the era of guilds of research workers. They have a broadening influence, teaching workmen not to consider instruments, such as recording thermometers, gauges and other mechanical devices, as spies but as helpers to success.

Our workmen have advanced in intelligence. As they motor to and from their tasks they have become familiar with instruments of precision. Compare the skill required to pilot an airplane with the "Gee-haw" driving of the ex-team by our grandfathers.

Research in its broadest sense is directed to discovery, the observation of facts and their tabulation.

The floor of the Atlantic was sounded through scientific interest and proved that a fine plateau existed between Newfoundland and Ireland, on which later the cable was laid securely.

Our universities seek truth for its own sake, while our technical schools apply scientific methods to attain useful ends.

Realising the great necessity of union between discovery and application, and wishing to lead in industrial competition, steps have been taken to have technical schools and manufacturing plants co-operate, so students may become familiar with running processes.

A great advance was made by the establishment of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research. Manufacturers make contracts to pay the salaries of "fellows" and incidental expenses. When the research is successful—for the conditions practically guaranteed that—the worker secures a permanent position with the manufacturer. What a deathblow is the present attitude of directors of plants to such an institution!

Research laboratories within the works have decided advantages over those of technical schools or institutes. The broadest results of industrial research are stated by the director of one of the largest laboratories who described its activities as A, B and C.

A was concerned with routine tests, B with improvements of existing processes, C with just ordinary research.

C paid best, giving the highest financial return.

Years of importunity induced a directorate to build a fine research laboratory, the cost of which was paid by the first research on a waste product, and a new manufacture was established. Now the staff is decimated.

As a nation we cannot afford to be as unprepared for the economic war now on as we were for the World War. Now is the time for the greatest activity in industrial research.

SPEAKIN' 'bout American style! If you knew of an American "home," a small house, clean, beautifully furnished, cleaner than anything you could hope for in China, where the food was mostly American products, prepared in American fashion (clean, wholesome, delicious) in a kitchen that invites your inspection at all times, and served in American style, with more food (than plates passed 'round) and such chow that would make you think of the best you ever tasted from Maine to California and which unheard of in the Far East could be eaten with safety; you sure would like to live in such a place! I have a large room, private bath (geyser), for two gentlemen or couple and a small suite of sittingroom, bedroom, dressingroom, private bath for three gentlemen or couple with child; the beds, the blankets, are clean. NEW BOND ISSUE

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 2.—A new issue is announced of 5½ percent Treasury Bonds at 98 instead of at 97, as hitherto, redeemable at par in 1929 and convertible during 1922 into 3½ percent Loan at the rate of £146 Loan per £100 bond.

Europe's Gold Reserves

While Europe sent to the United States more than two hundred and fifty million dollars in gold during the first six months of the current year above receipts from this country, nevertheless a slight gain occurred in that period in the total gold reserves of Europe held by central banks or government agents, says the National Bank of Commerce of New York.

Only three of the fourteen chief European gold holding countries showed a diminution in their gold stocks from January 1 to July 1, and these losses were relatively slight, their combined total amounting to less than twelve million dollars. This loss was more than offset by gains among the other eleven countries, the net increase of the fourteen combined amounting to $1,199,000.

Yet between January 1 and July 1, the gold stock held by the Federal reserve banks in the United States increased by $402,601,000 or nearly 20 percent of the $2,059,330,000 they held the first of the year, almost two-thirds of the increase being made up by the gold from European shipping points, the rest coming from non-European and domestic sources.

An analysis of this gold movement shows that present European gold reserves are not being drained to swell America's holdings, but that the increments to this country's hoard since the first of the year, in so far as shipments from European points are concerned, are chiefly accounted for by three great streams of the metal consisting of newly mined supplies from Africa coming by way of London; of gold yielded up by India, also coming by way of London; and of metal thought to have originated from Russian sources, eventually coming to America through various European countries.

Europe's centralised reserves were built up subsequent to the outbreak of the Great War far above prewar figures, and were further increased since the Armistice, by concentrating in them as far as possible all gold privately held. While these reserves have been, by continued government impoundage, kept rigidly stabilised at the points attained as a result of these extraordinary war and postway measures, in the face of the recent tremendous suction toward America, nevertheless the three great streams have flowed through these countries to the United States with little impediment during the last six months. No material effort has been made in Europe to divert the gold from them for the purpose of building up further the reserves there. The gold has served to reduce European indebtedness in America rather than to aid in restoring the gold standard in Europe.

It was stated in the Federal Reserve Bulletin for June, 1921, that the Director of the Swedish Mint had recently estimated that seventy tons of Russian gold were received in Sweden since 1920. He was quoted as saying that after refining it was re-exported, chiefly to the United States, representing an assayed value here of about $40,000,000. The bulletin also said that not less than another $60,000,000 of Russian gold or its equivalent had found its way to the United States through France and other channels.

The movement of gold from Russia to the United States is not definitely traceable. It is thought to have come to this country indirectly through various continental countries in addition to those mentioned above. At the outbreak of the war in 1914 the Russian State Bank held $779,750,000 in gold; by the end of 1917, the date of the last definite statement of gold held in the bank, the stock had dwindled to $633,000,000. It has been reported that this balance has since been largely dispersed and the amount remaining is unknown, but is thought to be small.

It appears therefore that the United States received, between January 1 and July 10, the equivalent of $106,599,000 of African and Indian gold by way of London and the equivalent of more than $100,000,000 of Russian gold by way of Continental Europe. These three chief sources account for the fact that Europe as a whole has been able to make substantial gold payments to the United States without further impairing her existing centralised gold stocks.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

Shanghai, October 3, 1921

Spot bar silver was up 1/4d. and forward 1/8d. in London on Saturday.

The New York price advanced to 70⅞ and the London-New York cross rate is unchanged at 373.

The official Sterling rate here was raised 1d. to 4 -, the Gold Dollar rate to 74¾, the Rupee rate to 274 and the Yen rate was dropped to 61¼.

The market was firm throughout the day and business in Sterling was done at 4/3¼ for October delivery, 4/2¾ for November and 4/2¼ for December.

Advices from London and New York quote the silver markets there as being steady and while the present monetary stringency continues there is little likelihood of any drop in rates.

Language Will Be Their 'Major' In Peking School

(China Press Correspondence)

Tsingtao, Sept. 24.—An interesting party of young missionaries landed here a few days ago, and went on to some interior stations before going to Peking Language School. In charge of the party was Miss Bertha Smith, principal of the Laichow Girls' Boarding School who brought back a quantity of supplies needed for her school.

Mr. Robert Pruitt, son of the senior Southern Baptist missionary in Shantung, after study in the University of Pennsylvania and other institutions, returns to assist his father, Dr. C. W. Pruitt, in the Willingham College.

Miss Alda Grayson, G. N., after a year at Peking, will return to work with the Kathleen Mallory Hospital for Women in Laichow. Miss Winnie Davis Bennett, of Mississipi, after a career of teaching, and considerable experience in publication work with the Sunday School Board in Nashville, Tenn., will, after language preparation, take up her duties as instructress in the Willingham College at Hwanghsien.

Rev. E. O. Ware, of Georgia, had service in the U. S. Navy during the war. With university and theological training he expects to give himself to the important work of evengelisation, connected with Hwanghsien.

On the 23 inst. Mrs. N. F. Allman, with her infant son, left for Shanghai, enroute to the upper Yangtsze to join her husband, Mr. N. F. Allman, who is in the U. S. Consular service. On the same steamer the Sakaki Maru, from the Presbyterian Mission community there went Mrs. Egerton, who took her grandson, Master Edward Chandler, to place him in school in Manila.

MANLY MODESTY

Husband Thinks Self-Praise A Good Recommendation

London, Aug. 6.—When several women had complained of the bad behaviour of another of their sex, the Wood-green magistrate yesterday asked what sort of a husband she had.

A man stepped forward and said: "One of the very best—a kind husband and a good worker."

Magistrate: Is he in court?

The Man: Yes, I'm him.

NEW BOND ISSUE

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 2.—A new issue is announced of 5½ percent Treasury Bonds at 98 instead of at 97, as hitherto, redeemable at par in 1929 and convertible during 1922 into 3½ percent Loan at the rate of £146 Loan per £100 bond.

Europe's Gold Reserves

While Europe sent to the United States more than two hundred and fifty million dollars in gold during the first six months of the current year above receipts from this country, nevertheless a slight gain occurred in that period in the total gold reserves of Europe held by central banks or government agents, says the National Bank of Commerce of New York.

Only three of the fourteen chief European gold holding countries showed a diminution in their gold stocks from January 1 to July 1, and these losses were relatively slight, their combined total amounting to less than twelve million dollars. This loss was more than offset by gains among the other eleven countries, the net increase of the fourteen combined amounting to $1,199,000.

Yet between January 1 and July 1, the gold stock held by the Federal reserve banks in the United States increased by $402,601,000 or nearly 20 percent of the $2,059,330,000 they held the first of the year, almost two-thirds of the increase being made up by the gold from European shipping points, the rest coming from non-European and domestic sources.

An analysis of this gold movement shows that present European gold reserves are not being drained to swell America's holdings, but that the increments to this country's hoard since the first of the year, in so far as shipments from European points are concerned, are chiefly accounted for by three great streams of the metal consisting of newly mined supplies from Africa coming by way of London; of gold yielded up by India, also coming by way of London; and of metal thought to have originated from Russian sources, eventually coming to America through various European countries.

Europe's centralised reserves were built up subsequent to the outbreak of the Great War far above prewar figures, and were further increased since the Armistice, by concentrating in them as far as possible all gold privately held. While these reserves have been, by continued government impoundage, kept rigidly stabilised at the points attained as a result of these extraordinary war and postway measures, in the face of the recent tremendous suction toward America, nevertheless the three great streams have flowed through these countries to the United States with little impediment during the last six months. No material effort has been made in Europe to divert the gold from them for the purpose of building up further the reserves there. The gold has served to reduce European indebtedness in America rather than to aid in restoring the gold standard in Europe.

It was stated in the Federal Reserve Bulletin for June, 1921, that the Director of the Swedish Mint had recently estimated that seventy tons of Russian gold were received in Sweden since 1920. He was quoted as saying that after refining it was re-exported, chiefly to the United States, representing an assayed value here of about $40,000,000. The bulletin also said that not less than another $60,000,000 of Russian gold or its equivalent had found its way to the United States through France and other channels.

The movement of gold from Russia to the United States is not definitely traceable. It is thought to have come to this country indirectly through various continental countries in addition to those mentioned above. At the outbreak of the war in 1914 the Russian State Bank held $779,750,000 in gold; by the end of 1917, the date of the last definite statement of gold held in the bank, the stock had dwindled to $633,000,000. It has been reported that this balance has since been largely dispersed and the amount remaining is unknown, but is thought to be small.

It appears therefore that the United States received, between January 1 and July 10, the equivalent of $106,599,000 of African and Indian gold by way of London and the equivalent of more than $100,000,000 of Russian gold by way of Continental Europe. These three chief sources account for the fact that Europe as a whole has been able to make substantial gold payments to the United States without further impairing her existing centralised gold stocks.

Language Will Be Their 'Major' In Peking School

(China Press Correspondence)

Tsingtao, Sept. 24.—An interesting party of young missionaries landed here a few days ago, and went on to some interior stations before going to Peking Language School. In charge of the party was Miss Bertha Smith, principal of the Laichow Girls' Boarding School who brought back a quantity of supplies needed for her school.

Mr. Robert Pruitt, son of the senior Southern Baptist missionary in Shantung, after study in the University of Pennsylvania and other institutions, returns to assist his father, Dr. C. W. Pruitt, in the Willingham College.

Miss Alda Grayson, G. N., after a year at Peking, will return to work with the Kathleen Mallory Hospital for Women in Laichow. Miss Winnie Davis Bennett, of Mississipi, after a career of teaching, and considerable experience in publication work with the Sunday School Board in Nashville, Tenn., will, after language preparation, take up her duties as instructress in the Willingham College at Hwanghsien.

Rev. E. O. Ware, of Georgia, had service in the U. S. Navy during the war. With university and theological training he expects to give himself to the important work of evengelisation, connected with Hwanghsien.

On the 23 inst. Mrs. N. F. Allman, with her infant son, left for Shanghai, enroute to the upper Yangtsze to join her husband, Mr. N. F. Allman, who is in the U. S. Consular service. On the same steamer the Sakaki Maru, from the Presbyterian Mission community there went Mrs. Egerton, who took her grandson, Master Edward Chandler, to place him in school in Manila.

Scandinavian Views Of Disarmament

(Literary Digest)

PUBLIC SENTIMENT in Norway, Sweden and Denmark is greatly in favor of disarmament, we are told, but opinions are divided as to the advisability of small nations setting the example by putting the theory into practise at this hour of world disturbance. At Copenhagen recently a Scandinavian Interparliamentary convention was held which was attended by delegates of the parliaments of the three Scandinavian countries. The meeting discussed at length the disarmament question and passed a resolution recommending international limitation of armaments. The discussion preceding the resolution was of much interest, and the view of the Swedish expremier Hjalmar Branting is considered by the press as particularly worthy of attention. This leader of the Swedish Socialist party, reviewing the world situation at present, expressed the opinion that the end of armed power and the triumph of justice through peace were ideals only a distant future might see realised and that "even a small country should show her will to live." But the opponents of Mr. Branting maintained that the small countries ought to set the example for the world in regard to disarmament, and the discussion resulted in the passing of the vague resolution above mentioned. In commenting on the matter the Stockholm Svenska Dagbladet observes:

"The Swedish defense policy has no end in itself. It is indissolubly related to our international position. It was a delusion to believe an age of peace and disarmament had begun with the end of the great war. It was a premature hope, fostered by the League of Nations, that a stable world status should be set up quickly. However, such delusions and such expectations have greatly influenced Swedish politics. Our present position in the armament question is proof of that. An opinion like that of Mr. Branting does not seem to harmonise with continued support of the spirit of disarmament which is predominating at present and the end of which it is not easy to see."

The news of the disarmament conference at Washington seems to have been met with rejoicing and approval in Scandinavian official circles. The Christiania Norwegian daily Aftenposten publishes interviews with the Premier and the Secretary of Defense of Norway, on the subject of President Harding's plan. The Premier, Mr. Blehr, said that "the initiative of President Harding is of great significance. It is the big nations which eventually must take the lead in the disarmament question. If the small nations separately should limit their armaments it would mean little or nothing in the event that the big nations could not agree to settle their disputes in any way but by armed power. And it is also a general and obvious sentiment that if quiet and stability could be established in the Far East it would greatly facilitate the work of disarmament."

The Norwegian Secretary of Defense, Mr. Aavatsmark, likewise attached much importance to America's initiative in the matter. "It has been maintained," he argued, "that the small nations ought to take the lead in the disarmament question. But the small nations have already taken the lead. We have only militia-troops, and no standing army. If the big nations which have power and authority and in fact decide as to war and peace, will show that they seriously wish a limitation of armaments and realise this wish, the small nations will be more than glad to join in the action, and go to still further limitations. As yet nobody knows what will be the result of President Harding's initiative. But the fact that the initiative has been taken I consider an exceedingly significant sign of the times."

Some Scandinavian newspapers take a somber view of the eventual results of the conference. The Swedish daily Goteborgs Handels- och Sjofartstidning does not believe that a disarmament plan which can safeguard the peace of the world will be able to grow in the soil of the politics of power, for "as long as the leading Powers, as at present, permit imperialistic motives to govern their actions people do not dare enter reckoning with war as 'ultima ratio.'" The Christiania Norwegian conservative organ Morgenbladet underscores the many difficulties and serious problems ahead, although it admits that a conference about disarmament and the Pacific question may be able to do some good. With a slight touch of sarcasm the paper goes on to say: "A voluntary agreement about united action in the Far East and the utilisation of defenseless China may for instance contribute to the postponement of the next war, perhaps for many years. And even that would be an advantage." The Christiania Aftenposten concludes that "the road to the promised realm of peace and reconciliation still seems to be both long and narrow," while the Stockholm Dagens Nyheter dwells extensively on the difficulties between the United States and Japan and fears that the reservations made already by Japan may offer "excellent possibilities for sabotage of the American peace initiative." Commenting on the same problems the Danish Berlingske Tidende quotes the late Lord Fisher's famous saying, "Think in oceans and shoot at sight," and adds that these words possibly may receive a new application.

Favorite Hymns To Be Abolished

No Room For 'Church's One Foundation.'

(Daily Chronicle)

Sweeping reforms are to be made in a new hymnal now being compiled for the Church of England. The changes include:—

The abolition of "The Church's One Foundation," "Peace, Perfect Peace," and many other well-known hymns.

The revision of the Te Deum.

The bringing in of hymns to be sung at science lectures.

The compilers of the "General Hymnary," as it is to be called, suspended their labors during the war, writes a Daily Chronicle representative, but have recently met for the purpose of resuming work.

Profiting by the experience of the new edition of "Hymns Ancient and Modern" (1904), which was not a success, they have decided to exclude many familiar hymns in order to include those of superior quality.

"PEACE, PERFECT PEACE"

Thus "The Church's One Foundation" will be left out, on the grounds that it is full of mixed metaphor and contradiction. Among the hymns that will take its place is one by S. Longfellow:—

One holy Church of God appears
Through every age and race,
Unwasted by the lapse of years,
Unchanged by changing place.

Dr. Bickersteth's hymn, "Peace, Perfect Peace," has met with some objection because of the words, "The blood of Jesus whispers," and a hymn by the Rev. H. W. Hawkes, written to the same measure, will take its place. The hymn has six stanzas; the first reads:—

Peace, perfect peace, the gift of God within;
It cometh not till grace hath conquered sin.

There are to be hymns for use at science lectures, organ recitals and similar occasions.

HYMN FOR SCIENCE LECTURE

Among those considered suitable for singing before a science lecturer begins his remarks is:—

O Lord Almighty, lend Thine aid
To those who open ear and eye
To learn the laws which Thou has made,
And read Thy works in earth and sky.

The selection will include revised versions of ancient hymns. The Alleluiatic Sequence of the Greek Church is newly written to the inspiring music of Palestrina, the great Italian master of the 16th century. One particular feature of the work will be a revision of the latter half of the Te Deum.

The compilers are willing to receive criticisms and further suggestions. Communications should be addressed to Mr. M. Godfrey, Chiltern Green, near Luton.

WORDS AND THEIR MEANINGS

Gideon Wurdz is a Master of Pholly; he is also a Doctor of Loquacious Lunacy; another of his degrees is Fellow of the Royal Glee Society and he has written an inexhaustive work of reference about un-certain English words, their origin, meaning, legitimate and illegitimate use, confused by the best works of reference.

It therefore behoves us to study carefully the work of this confounded scholar and to draw from his storehouse of knowledge the ways whereby certain words express meanings seldom formerly dreamed of.

I cannot do better in bringing this work to the notice of a public seeking knowledge than by quoting from pages here and there what Professor Wurdz writes about words.

Economics Of Bridgework

BY H. BERENTS

("Economics of Bridgework"—A Sequel to "Bridge Engineering"—by J. A. L. Waddell, C. E.; B. A. Sc., Ma. E., D. Sc.; L. L. D. etc.—In one Volume, 512 pages, 6 by 9 inches, and fully illustrated. Publishers: John Wiley and Sons, Inc., New York City; Chapman and Hall, Ltd., London.)

This book is not only of special interest to bridge engineers, but conveys to all other engineers, and to businessmen, to bankers and to students of economic problems the necessity of applying general economic principles in every specialty of every branch of engineering and because anything similar has never been attempted before by any engineer "Economics of Bridgework" is offered as a sample of the treatment which should be given to the exposition of economics in each specialty.

After forty-five years of hard study and work, Dr. Waddell has contributed this technical book "Economics of Bridgework" which together with his "Bridge Engineering" published in 1916 will for many years to come prove of great service to the engineering profession and remain as a lasting monument to the Doctor, freely giving his brother engineers of his vast knowledge and experience and accumulated records instead of following the practice of so many experts, to avoid the trouble of publishing in suitable form what would be invaluable to the development of their particular specialty and of assistance to the coming generations, who in this book will find the Doctor's solutions of all the major economic problems in bridgework.

As Dr. Waddell's former work "Bridge Engineering" is impregnated with the fundamental idea of economy, certain portions of this book must necessarily appear in this new work where the entire field of bridge-economics is covered.

A particular feature of the present book is the scarcity of treatment of economic problems by pure mathematics, the formulas given being mostly semi-rational, semi-empirical, this because of the far too complicated economic questions failing to lend themselves to solution by mathematical manipulations. The Doctor's formulas are therefore developed along entirely new lines.

Particular attention is called to the thoroughness of treatment of each subject listed; also to the style of diction and to the punctuation, which renders the meaning of everything so clear that the reading is easy.

The Doctor succeeded in obtaining assistance from the highest authorities and most eminent engineers to treat the economics of any subject where he considered his personal experience inadequate, and to induce such men to write or even to furnish rough data takes a strong personality.

Numerous special investigations had to be made in order to prepare this unique work dedicated to "Academie des Sciences of L'Institut de France."

A brief description of "Economics of Bridgework" is given in the following:—

Chapter 1 begins with the importance of economics to the world at large, then passes to its importance to the United States, then to engineering, and finally to Bridgework. A strong plea is made for a thorough investigation of economics in every specialty of every branch of engineering.

In Chapter 2 is expounded the general principles of engineering economics. This chapter gives several examples of how they should be applied, those selected relating essentially to bridgework. One of them developed later into an actual economic investigation by a Board of Advisory Engineers, of which Dr. Waddell was a member.

Chapter 3 deals with the necessity for the study of economics when promoting the project of building a bridge, tells of the proper modus operandi therefor and gives some good advise to all concerned.

In Chapter 4 is shown the relation of unit costs for the materials and labor for substructure and superstructure to the economics of bridge layouts.

Chapter 5 is one of the most elaborate and important chapters of the treatise and deals greatly with probabilities in future development of alloy steels.

Chapter 6 affords some lively reading and treats of the author's actual experience in making comparisons for proposed river crossings. Here is also quoted in full his late paper on "Bridge Versus Tunnel for the proposed Hudson River crossing at New York City" published by the Am. Soc. C. E.

In Chapter 7 is given the pros and the cons of High-Level and low level Crossings and comparative cost, while Chapter 8 consists of a dissertation concerning the types of Steel and Reinforced-Concrete structures.

Comparative Economics of different types of ordinary Steel structures, of riveted and pin-connected bridges, of continuous and non-continuous trusses, of simple-truss and cantilever bridges, of cantilever and suspension bridges, are dealt with in Chapter 9 to Chapter 13. Each type is discussed separately and it is shown how after long and bitter fights, certain compromises have been reached, and how definite findings have been arrived at to settle many of the economic questions affecting the different types of bridges.

Economics of the various kinds of bridge approaches are discussed in Chapter 14 including that of the spiral approach.

The determination of layouts is dealt with in Chapter 15 which is undoubtedly one of the most important in the book because a correct and economic determination of the layout for any proposed bridge is evidently the prime question of the engineering problem as to design and construction.

In Chapter 16 is found an exhaustive discussion of the economics of loads and unit stresses where the Doctor suggests a series of tests of full-sized members made in actual bridges instead of in a testing machine.

Economics of Time and Money in making cost estimates for bridges as dealt with in Chapter 17 will be found to be of special interest to engineers, because Dr. Waddell has deveted the entire chapter to an exposition of the manner in which the various diagrams, tables, and other data as published in his previous work "Bridge Engineering" can be used for making quick and accurate computations of quantities of materials of substructure, superstructure, and approaches of all kinds of bridges, and estimates of total cost of structures. Eleven examples are propounded and solved to show to the profession how it can utilise the vast amount of valuable data for the making of quick and accurate estimates. A few examples of a more complicated nature are set for solution by the reader.

"The Economic Span-Lengths for Simple-Truss Bridges on Various Types of Foundation" as treated is Chapter 18 is of particular interest because its preparation required the making of bona fide estimates of cost of over 200 piers and 200 spans.

In Chapter 19 the economics of substructures where the proportioning of shafts, plain and reinforced concrete, dumb-bell shafts and hollow shafts etc., etc., are discussed. Further attention is given to materials for the shells, of the economic distance below water to any piershafts, pneumatic versus open dredging, steel sheet piling, etc.

Chapters 20 to 24 contain valuable information to all bridge designers and engineers and deal with Economics of Trusses and Girders, of Decks and Floor-Systems, of Designing and Detailing; further of Economics in design for shop considerations and in Design for Erection Consideration.

Economics of Reinforced-Concrete Bridges as treated in Chapter 25 contains a mass of valuable information, not heretofore put in print, about the economics of reinforcing steel, intensities of working stresses for concrete, pavings, handrails, slabs, girders, colums, footings, and highway girder bridges, arch bridges, trestles and retaining walls.

Chapters 26 to 30 deal with Economics of Steel Arch Bridges, of Steel Trestles, Viaducts and Elevated Railroads, of Cantilever

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Bridges, of Suspension Bridges and of Movable spans. These Chapters show perhaps clearer than any other part of the book the vast amount of work required to prepare them, and how even engineers fail to appreciate, until greatly experienced, the excellence of Dr. Waddell's writings. For Elevated Railroads, which have lately been suggested for Shanghai, the following economic subjects have received due attention; best and most economical span-lengths for various types of structure; four-column versus two-column structures; braced towers versus solitary columns; plate-girders versus open-webbed girders; and best sections for columns.

Attention is drawn to the contents of Chapter 29 which is original to an eminent degree, for no writer before has ever attempted to, determine the economic functions of suspension bridges.

The amount of work involved in preparing Chapter 30 is greater than most people will ever realise. It would take too much space to give this unique Chapter a proper description; suffice it to say that it is thorough and reliable and covers all "Economics of Movable Spans."

In preparing Chapter 31 where "Economics of Operating Machinery and Power" is discussed Dr. Waddell received valuable aid from his old friend, Mr. T. E. Brown, the well known mechanical engineering expert, and his former principal assistant mechanical engineer, Major L. L. Clark.

Chapter 32, where the "Possibilities and Economics of the Transbordeur" are recorded, owes its existence to some studies made by Dr. Waddell as a member of the Board of Advisory Engineers to the Public Belt Railroad Commission of New Orleans (1919). Its contents were presented as a memoir to the Institution of Civil Engineers of Great Britain and were lately used as the basis of two editorials in Le Genie Civil, the leading technical paper of continental Europe.

Economics in Contract-Letting as represented in Chapter 33 must be looked upon as the final stage of development of an economic conception gradually evolved by the author and printed by degress in the technical press as the ideas where elaborated. The author spent many weeks of solid work on the development and writing of this chapter and the antecedent papers and memoirs; and it is really one of the most important pieces of professional work that he has ever undertaken. The method of contract-letting and profit sharing that he suggests is now being tried by several large contracting companies. There is no use in trying to describe the scheme, for it cannot be properly appreciated without more than one reading, in spite of the fact that the method is quite simple of application, although at first thought it may appear complex.

The Economics of Engineering Office Work, of Inspection, of shop-work, of Bridge-Engineering Fieldwork and of Bridge Contractor's General Fieldwork are discussed in a most fascinating and satisfactory manner in Chapters 34 to 38, in the preparation of which the Doctor was aided by several of his expert friends.

Although the manufacture of concrete is a subject about which much has been written of late years in the technical press, the first attempt to treat of "Economics of Concrete Mixing" is presented in Chapter 39. This valuable chapter concludes with some "General Remarks" concerning "Concrete Mixing and the Economics" which will be found interesting.

In Chapter 40 to Chapter 43 are treated the "Economics of Erection, of Maintenance and Repairs, of Metal Protection and of Waterproofing," and the result is most gratifying to the reader.

"Economics of Military Bridging" is discussed in Chapter 44 by Col. P. S. Bond. The keynote of Col. Bond's discourse is the fact that in war the matter of economics is one of time and not of cost; and this thought permeates the entire dissertation, which will prove very interesting reading to every engineer.

Chapter 45 might be termed the authors farewell-message to technical book writing, because he states emphatically that this is going to be his last technical book.

The appendix contains merely a chronologically arranged list of the author's various investigations and writings in the realm of "Bridge economics," extending over a period of thirty-seven years.

Chinese Students Having Serious Time In France

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, October 1.—There is in France a colony of Chinese students, since the war a particularly large one, who have come to this country at the instigation of the Franco-Chinese Society for their education, to learn the language, and to take advantage of the facilities for acquiring knowledge, which they find in France.

The majority of them are well-educated but they are not rich and therefore they have had to seek employment in factories, where, while earning their living, they could at the same time learn the French language and a trade. Everything moved smoothly until recently and in the great industrial centers these Chinese students could easily find work until the day came when the business crisis and consequent stoppage of work in the factories deprived them of their means of existence.

Their organisation, the Federation of Chinese Students in France, then appealed to the Franco-Chinese Society for aid. The latter did its best but its coffers were soon emptied and its proteges were unfortunately thrown upon their own resources. The Federation of Chinese Students then informed its members that there was at Lyons a Franco-Chinese Institute, which would shortly receive a contingent of students coming directly from France. The word was quickly passed round and shortly afterwards about 100 students presented themselves at the Institute. They were, however, told that a party of students were due to arrive shortly from Marseilles and that they could not be received.

As the students continued to claim the right of admittance the Secretary-General of the Police of the Lyons Prefecture intervened, whose attempts at conciliation resulted in the provisional housing of the students until the Chinese Legation and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs could be informed of the situation. The next day the Chinese students were taken to Fort Montluc where they are being temporarily housed and are waiting patiently some solution which will enable them to resume their interrupted studies and work.

The Vice-Consul, M. Litchnin, and Mr. Woods are taking up the matter of the students' claims, which certainly are deserving of investigation. M. Herriot, the Mayor of Lyons, is said to be not averse to the formation of a new section of the Franco-Chinese Institute to which a hundred students could be admitted. The financial question appears to be the only obstacle to the carrying out of this plan. If it comes to nothing, these young Chinese will be repatriated. In any case negotiations are proceeding between Peking and Paris to settle the incident and it is to be hoped that everything will be satisfactorily arranged.

She Did Not Have To Tell

Albert had never seen the other man—would not be likely ever to encounter. Yet Meta felt deeply that the man she was to marry should not be kept in ignorance. Then came the dread fear that her secret would make a vital difference; that her confession would rob her of her love. What should she do? For the solution of this striking dilemma in Finis Fox's great photodrama, "Should A Woman Tell?" see it at the Isis Theater. Alice Lake heads the all star cast.

SEEK TO STOP SALES OF ORE TO JAPANESE

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, Sept. 29.—An impeachment has been brought before the Hupeh Provincial Assembly against the alleged sale of iron ores to the Japanese by the Hupeh Government Mining Bureau, which is charged with having contracted with the Japan to sell iron ores mined at the Hsiangpeishan iron mines in the Tayeh mining district. The contract was signed with the approval of the Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce at Peking.

The Japanese are now said to be at work surveying the mining district of Tayeh with a view to erecting smelting works for the manufacture of iron and steel for Japan's consumption. In getting the right to purchase the ores of the Hupeh Government Mining Bureau, the Japanese have offered goodly sums to Peking and Wuchang officials.

The Assembly bases its opposition on the ground that in issuing cash-notes amounting to $30,000,000 and later another $6,000,000, the mining properties of Hsiangpeishan were pledged as reserve for these notes. Therefore the mines are provincial properties instead of nationalised industries of the Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce.

18-Inch Guns On 4 Sea-Fighters, Plan Of English

London, Aug. 13.—Great Britain plans to start the construction of four super-dreadnoughts next year which will carry 18-inch guns, the Evening Standard announced today.

The warships will be 1,000 feet long, will be capable of thirty-five knots an hour and will cost £7,500,000 sterling each.

CHINESE TO HOLD FORMER GERMAN AREA IN HANKOW

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, Sept. 28.—That the former German Concession at Hankow shall remain under the administration of Chinese authorities is the announcement made by the Special Administrative District authorities now in charge of the ex-German Concession.

According to the Peace Treaty terms concluded with Germany only private German properties sequestered by China shall be returned to the German owners, but the administrative powers in German concessions in China shall be in the hands of the Chinese.

The announcement is made to dispel statements carried by local Chinese papers, which report that the Chinese authorities are preparing to turn over the police and municipal managements to German authorities in Hankow.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO OPEN SEASON'S MEETINGS TODAY

With plans being made to bring the membership of the American Woman's Club up to 600 members, to create a spirit of co-operation between the British, Chinese and American Woman's Clubs, to make the programs more helpful to the women of the community than ever before, the American Woman's Club will hold its opening meeting of the year this afternoon at the Carlton Cafe at 4 o'clock.

The new year promises to be one of the greatest in the history of the club and the various departments are co-operating with their chairmen to make the department meetings especially worth while.

At the meeting to be held at the Carlton Cafe this afternoon at 4 o'clock the chairman will outline the work of the various departments and enroll members for the different lines of the club's activities.

Mrs. H. A. Wilbur, chairman of the Literary Department, with her committee, has worked out a program of special interest along the literary line; Mrs. Walker of St. John's, chairman of the music department and Mrs. Chatman, first vice chairman will tell of their plans for the coming year; Mrs. V. G. Lyman of the activities of the social department; Mrs. J. W. Nichols, chairman of the social service department, will announce the work which the club will take up along the social service lines; and Mrs. Van Buskirk will announce the program of the mother's department, which is one of the most helpful departments of the club.

Mrs. F. J. Raven, the club president, is looking forward to a very successful year of club activity. She is anxious to meet all American women of recent arrival in Shanghai and has expressed the hope that they will become workers in the club. Mrs. Raven feels also that much good can be done in Shanghai by the organised effort of the women of the community and that such organisation best can be realised through the co-operation of the British, Chinese and American women's clubs.

Mrs. Raven is supported by a strong group of officers which include Mrs. M. F. Perkins, first vice-president, Mrs. Dunbar and Mrs. Robert Bryan, secretaries; Mrs. Rollo Lunkley, treasurer; Mrs. Glenn Armstrong, librarian and Mesdames Squires, Lurton, A. P. Parker and F. R. Sites, directors.

NEED GAS MASKS UNTIL ALL QUIT GAS IN WARFARE

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 2.—The editor of the Berliner Tageblatt declares that the organisation of the Reichswehr is now definitively settled and is recognised by the Interallied Commission.

Negotiations are proceeding with the Allies on the subject of the prohibition to Germany to use anti-gas appliances but the German Government holds the view that, until the use of gas is formally prohibited in all countries, Germany should not be denied the use of appliances to defend herself against it.

The writer expressed the conviction that the Reichswehr is solid for the government and is obedient and faithful to duty.

STONE PICTURE IS FOUND IN CAVERN

Paris, Aug. 6.—A party exploring the famous caverns in the Perigord unearthed a stone boulder whereon is beautifully engraved a bison being attacked by a serpent.

Archaeologists say it is thousands of years old, and, perhaps, the most important discovery ever made in the region, where are also found the famous stones of Bergerac.

Yesterday a party of tourists in the Saone-et-Loire discovered a subterranean cemetery dating back 400 B. C. A stone coffin, containing a skull and curious gold trinkets, was unearthed.

Finally, a number of girls exploring caverns in the Ardennes found the body of a uniformed German non-commissioned officer sitting on a chair. It is supposed he escaped from a prison camp, and took to the woods, only to die of starvation in the cavern.

WRITING BY WIRELESS

Autograph Message Sent 3,000 Miles Across The Atlantic

Paris, Aug. 6.—A fresh victory has been achieved by French science, says the Matin.

If it had been forecasted a few years ago, or even a few months ago, that the words one writes could at the same moment be read in America in the very shape in which the pen traces them—if it had been forecasted that a diplomatic signature, for example, could be appended to a treaty by wireless, or that a treaty or cheque could be signed three thousand miles away—the reply would have been that it was a fairy tale. Yet this is actually possible.

Yesterday the Matin received the following autographed lines from America:

"The New York Times' congratulations to Le Matin upon this new method of wireless transmission."

This was transmitted in a few minutes by wireless without the assistance of any cable. The inventor of the system is M. Belin.—Exchange.
